

MY PRIMARY SOCIAL DESIRES

---

Sexual

My strongest social desires are probably my sexual desires.

The strongest desire is to have deep connection & experience my desired erotic activities & scenarios with...

- Ageplay Girls
- Rebel Girls

...and secondarily some other niche types of girls, like...

- Alt Girls
- Very Tall & Very Short Girls
- Melt Girls

Other key qualities beyond these types that I desire here are...

- Physical Hotness
- Bisexuality
- Free Lovers (Poly & Moresomes)
- Into Roleplay
- Into Fetish/Kink Play
- Truly Loves Sex (Nympho Compatible)
- Exhibitionistic (Public Play)

...and virtually all of the qualities listed in the platonic category.

I'm going for one solid ageplay or rebel girlfriend first, then working to build out from there to create a group scenario.

Platonic

My platonic social desires are less developed because it is a less specialized & generally less potent category than sexuality.

Here are some of the primary qualities of friends that I'm looking ongoingly experience deep connection & fun with...

- Intensely Deep Connection
- Focus of Pleasure & Fun
- Youthful
- Eccentricity
- Spontaneous
- Raunchy/Naughty/Edgy/Rebellious
- Bubble World/Transcendence (create and share a unique, crazy, & special world of meaning between us to live from)
- Intellectual (Human Nature & Human Achievement)

Other than having conversations about my intellectual passions, I don't really have many ultra specific activity desires with friends. Well, one other similar thing I totally love is having explorative personal conversations with friends to get to know each other on a super deep level.

Other than that, I just want to live a free structure social lifestyle and consistently be "on the go" out doing stuff with friends, including travel (i love hotel living), parties, clubs, events, adventures, shows, classes, exercise, whatever. The primary fun comes from the deep connection & personal social dynamics that spontaneously happen on a random daily basis.

Relationship Structures

Inner Circle

The overarching structure for my personal relationships is my inner circle. I'm looking to focus 90% of my life within here. I will be qualifying based on the criteria for my sexual & platonic desires and overall depth & lasting personal connection. Also, I really want to have a group dynamic with friends within my inner circle, where most of my friends are good friends as well. This should bring about an even deeper feeling of connection and make the social dynamics even more fun in life.

Viper Squad

In order to have my desires on tap and create a group friendship dynamic, I think that the best way to accomplish this for the long-term is primarily by creating an incentivized personal entourage. Not everyone in my inner circle will be a part of my Viper Squad entourage, since it is primarily about my desires, which might not work for some friends. But, by default, everyone in Viper Squad will probably be a part of my inner circle. I expect some natural churn within Viper Squad and my inner circle over time. The cool thing about Viper Squad is that I can fulfill all of my sexual desires until the day I die.

...

Romantic Relationships

Obviously, I value freedom and hate obligation & compromise. My desires naturally span more than what one person can fulfill, so traditional relationships & marriage are out. I value intense deep connection and want to feel that but at the same time want to avoid losing freedom. I largely view romantic relationships as just friendships + sex, where sex is a fun mutual passion to share like tennis or music. I think that the majority of my girlfriends throughout life will be incentivized and a part of Viper Squad. Also, beyond girlfriend relationships, I expect to have several fuck buddies & hookups throughout my life experience, which have no ongoing structure.

Acquaintances

Beyond my inner circle, I would enjoy a consistent backdrop of fun & pleasurable human connection to supplement my inner circle. With acquaintances, I'd gravitate towards the types of people & activities I enjoy within my sexual & platonic desires. This would also serve as an incubation outlet for new inner circle friends. However, the key distinction is that I feel an ability to drop acquaintances from my life at a moment's notice without caring. This way, I can hedonistically play full out with my inner circle people no matter who else surrounds us at any given point in time.

Other Social Desires

A few other social desires that I have are...

- Web Presence & Live Video: I'd like to develop a likeminded following of cool peeps on my website and live video broadcasts where I just express my raw self, riff on my passions, & connect with people from around the globe while doing so.
- Music & Singing: I'd like to develop a talent for singing & creating hot music. It would be awesome to share this experience socially and use this talent for dialing up the personal connection with my inner circle & in general. Maybe pursuing a public career with it could be in the cards for me too.
- Become Russian: I'd like to learn Russian and one day live in Russia. It feels like a second home to me and has penetrated fairly deep within my identity & desires. I'd like to learn more of the language and start connecting with Russian people in the meantime.

Everything else that I primarily desire to do within my life falls outside of social life, like business, intellectual, & personal dev, or is likely some secondary social desire of mine.